TEN MILLIONS FOR FIVE YEARS
IS THE DEMAND.

WILSONS RADICAL STEP

Withdraws 87,300 Acres of Land to Prevent Water Monopolies.

Spokane, Aug. 13.—The annual appropriation of ten million dollars for a period of five years to aid in irrigation work was asked of congress in resolutions adopted by the National Irrigation congress today. This, however, is the most important recommendation in the resolutions adopted. Withdraws Land.

Washington, Aug. 13.—What is said to be the largest number of acres of land withdrawn for temporary water-power sites in the history of the interior department, was made today when secretary Wilson withdrew 87,300 acres along the Colorado river in Utah, to prevent "monopolies."

MRS WALRATH WINS CASE IN THE COURT

Attempt to Recover From Bondsmen of Former Saloon Owner Proved Fruitless.

After deliberations lasting twenty minutes, a jury of four which was selected to try the action brought by the City of Janesville to recover a $100. forfeit from Mrs. Margaret Walrath, former proprietress of the Union House bar, or her two bondsmen—James Gardner and Archie Reid—returned a verdict in favor of the defendant. The jury was composed of Henry Kronitz, George Cullen, Frank George, and John Richardson.

Mrs. Walrath, when called to the witness stand, testified that whereas she had pleaded guilty on Monday, Jan. 25, to a charge of selling liquor on the preceding Sabbath day, her bar, in reality, had not been open, and she had taken the easiest, cheapest, and wisest way out of the difficulty. Walter Cox of Burlington, who was her bartender at the time, testified that he was in jail on the Sunday in question from 9 a. m. to 7:30 p. m., but that to his certain knowledge no liquor was sold in the place either before or after those hours. Mr. Gardner did not believe the bar was open.

City Attorney Maxfield produced the records of the conviction and explained to the jury Section 8, Page 46, of the Janesville city charter which provides that when a saloon-keeper's bond is executed, the sureties shall therein guarantee to pay the city $100 for each and every violation of the laws regulating the saloon business.

Attorney J. J. Cunningham based his plea on the arguments that it had not been proven to the satisfaction of anyone, court record notwithstanding, that Mrs. Walrath's bar was ever kept open on Sunday; and secondly, that whether or not she had violated the law, she had certainly paid the penalty once, it therefore could not be collected from her a second time.

TO TEACH FARMERS HOW TO FIGHT THE BUGS AND GERMS

Special Plans Made to Give Actual Demonstration of the Work of Mixtures.

One of the features of the coming state fair which should prove of general interest is the exhibit now being planned by Secretary Crawford of the State Horticultural society. In a booth adjoining Horticultural hall daily demonstrations will be given in preparing horticultural mixtures and the other standard compounds used in fighting bugs and diseases which attack fruit and vegetables.

In addition all the different spray pumps and machinery used in applying the remedies will be shown in actual operation. Everything will be here from the tiny bellows used in dusting house plants to the six-horse-power engine spray outfit drawn by two horses.

Such demonstrations as these may easily prove of more benefit than tens of bulletins giving formulas and directions. Everyone interested in garden or orchard should see this exhibit.

Baseball Teams: The Rockford and Freeport baseball teams, enroute for northern cities, were registered at the Grand hotel last night.

HAD NARROW ESCAPE IN THE SUGAR RIVER

Three Residents of Magnolia Who Could Not Swim Rescued Just in Nick of Time.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Brothton, Aug. 13.—But for the timely work of P. O. Anderson, who lives in this city, three residents of Magnolia, Rock county, would have been drowned in Sugar river. The three men and two companions who were camping on the river, started to float down the stream on the trunk of a tree. But one of the party could swim and when they became frightened and attempted to reach shallow water, two of the others who could not swim tried to save his companions. These cries for help were heard by P. O. Anderson who quickly went to their aid in his rowboat. He caught one who was going down for a third time and then seized a second who was slowly choking his companion in his fright so that both would have been drowned. This man was the largest of the five, weighing over two hundred pounds, and it was with difficulty that he was pulled to the side of the boat where he caught hold. The two on the log were next taken in tow and all brought safely to shallow water where they could wade ashore. Ben Thorsen, who was with Mr. Anderson, heard their cries for help, but having no boat and being unable to swim, could only wait and help the half-drowned party ashore. All of the men were sick from the water swallowed but otherwise no worse for their almost fatal accident. But for Mr. Anderson's timely aid all would have drowned.

LEOPOLD'S "WHIP" TO DEFEND AMERICANS

Leader of Belgian Socialists Will Appear for Misellaneous Charged With Criminal Libel.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Antwerp, Aug. 13.—Emilio Vandervelde, leader of the Belgian socialist party, started today for the Congo to defend the American missionaries, the Rev. Drs. William H. Shoppard and William M. Morrison, who are under indictment there for criminally libeling the Catholic Rubber company, a Congo Free State corporation.

The case of the American missionaries has already attracted much attention in Belgium, and now it promises to become a political issue. M. Vandervelde has long been a thorn in the side of King Leopold and had a considerable part in forcing the latter to relinquish his hold on the Congo. It is anticipated among both his friends and foes that the socialist leader's trip to the Congo is but to gather ammunition to be used in the debates at the coming session of the Belgian parliament, when the Congo question will again be brought up.

M. Vandervelde is acknowledged to be both energetic and clever. He is a doctor of laws, an advocate at Brussels, and a frequent contributor to many of the leading European journals. Although, as a socialist, he advocates the repatriation of wealth, he possesses a large fortune of his own. During the past ten or twelve years he has obtained much notoriety and not a little popularity by his forceful criticism of King Leopold in the chamber of deputies.

INVESTIGATION IS NEARLY COMPLETED

Attorney for Mother of Dead Marine
Officer Talks to the Court
Today.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Annapolis, Md., Aug. 13.—The session of the court of inquiry investigating the death of Lieutenant James N. Sutton, reached the concluding stage today when Henry E. Davis, counsel for Mrs. Sutton, summed up his case. He argued that all the testimony tended to negative the idea that Sutton had contemplated suicide. A. J. Hickey, counsel for Mount Adams, compared the honor of an officer to the honor of a woman, and declared the young lieutenant involved would be relieved of all responsibility for Sutton's death. He said the charges were based entirely on the "frantic ravings of a woman."

ATHLETIC EVENTS AT THE FAIR TODAY

National Championship Meet of A. A.
U. Held Today And Tomorrow in the Stadium.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Seattle, Wash., Aug. 13.—Scores of trained athletes gathered in the stadium of the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific exposition today for the preliminary events in the national track and field championships of the Amateur Athletic Union. The senior events will be contested tomorrow.

The meet is the first national affair of its kind to be held on the Pacific coast since the championship games at the Portland exposition in 1905. In the number of competing athletes and their high quality, the meet breaks all records for this section. Some disappointment is felt over the failure of the big eastern athletic clubs to send as many of their star performers as were promised. The New York Athletic club and several of the other clubs of the metropolis are represented and the Chicago Athletic association, which carried off the honors at Portland four years ago, is well represented.

The easterners will have to exert themselves to the utmost of their ability if they escape defeat at the hands of the Pacific coast athletes. The Olympic Athletic club of San Francisco has sent a delegation of its best performers, and the Multnomah A. C. of Portland and the Seattle Athletic club are represented by men of championship calibre. In addition to the clubs named the athletic organizations of Kansas City, Denver and several other cities are represented and there are also a number of unattached athletes entered in the various events that make up the two days' program.

MONSTER PEARL FOUND THURSDAY

HORACE PEASE IS $2,000 RICHER
BECAUSE OF YESTER-DAY'S RAIN.

Was Found in the Catfish River Near Where It Empties into the Rock.

Yesterday's rain put about $2,000 in Horace Pease's pocket. That is, figuratively speaking. If it had rained in the morning Pease, who lives on a farm at Fulton, would have gone on working at his daily tasks. As it was, he left his work and went down to the Catfish river to search for pearls. To say the least, he was very lucky.

He had followed in the wake of several friends for but a few moments gathering the clams, when he picked up a shell, opened it somewhat carefully and felt for a possible pearl. He was about to throw it away when a pearl as large as a good-sized pea rolled out upon his palm. He searched no longer for pearls that day. As his companions said, who had opened tons of shells, some people are born lucky.

The pearl when examined by jewelers proved to be almost perfect. It weighs nineteen grains, is almost exactly round and is beautifully colored. Those who have examined it state that it is easily worth $2,000. Not at all bad for one morning's work. Lucky finds such as this one are one of the chief incentives for pearl-hunters and even if extremely rare go far towards disproving the assertion that there are greater returns in selling clam-shells for buttons than there are in looking for pearls.

The spot where the pearl was found is between the mouth of the Catfish, where it empties into Rock river, and the dam. Even before the find of the year was made by Pease hundreds have raked the stream for pearls in the hope that a few pearls might be discovered. Farmers are putting in spare moments looking for the jewels.

Chummers from nearby towns spend their days in the water. Some idea of the amount of clams taken from the Catfish recently may be learned when the fact becomes known that two carloads of clam shells were shipped from Edgerton to a button factory at Davenport, Iowa, last week and this amount does not nearly show what has been taken from the river and thrown upon the bank from the mistaken idea that the shells were useless. It is estimated that thirty tons of shells have been raised from about forty rods of the stream running through Frank Pease's pasture at Fulton.

Aside from the big find of Horace Pease, many other pearls have been taken from the river, and the fact is perhaps larger than is known, for the professional hunters are very secretive concerning their finds, as the knowledge that pearls are numerous will tend to bring hundreds of hunters upon the grounds and spoil their chances to say nothing of depleting the beds.

Albert Strickler, who lives south of Fulton, found two pearls in the first two bushels of clams he opened last week. One was larger than an ordinary pea, with a beautiful pink luster, and had it not been that it was what is termed a "button" pearl—flat on one side instead of oval—would have been worth a hundred dollars or more. Albert Teubert of Indian Ford found a handsome 3 1/2-grain milk white pearl Monday that seems to be perfect in every respect. Theo. Clarke also has a three-grain beauty of fine luster.

Miss Ruby Severson of Stoughton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Severson, is the possessor of a handsome little pearl that she was lucky enough to find in the water outside of her father's cottage at Camp Dewart. A large number of clams had been taken out of the river by various ones, without a pearl being found, until Miss Ruby, for the fun of it, decided to try her luck, and picked a shell from the bottom, with the result before stated. While the pearl is not large, it is said to have a fine luster, and may prove quite a find, though no attempt has been made to ascertain its value.

JANESVILLE GIRL WEDS BELOIT MAN

Miss Helen Melander and Harry Stanton Married in Chicago in Early Part of Summer.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Beloit, Wis., Aug. 13.—The announcement of the marriage of Harry Stanton, a member of the shoe firm of Stanton Bros., to Miss Helen Melander of Janesville comes as a complete surprise to many of the young men's friends in this city. The wedding occurred early in the summer, the young couple slipping off to Chicago, where they were married by Rev. John Thompson. It has been kept a profound secret by both young people. They will live here after September 1. The groom at one time lived in Janesville.

The West Side Presbyterian church has extended a unanimous call to Rev. Charles P. Andrews of Abbotford, Wis. He will accept the call and will remove his family here to begin work October 1.

Frank Van Norman, a deliveryman employed by Burr Bros., groceryman, has been arrested on a warrant issued on complaint of the grocery firm, charging him with embezzlement. It is claimed that Van Norman collected $9 for the firm, but failed to turn it in. He pleaded not guilty when brought into municipal court this morning and his trial was set for tomorrow morning. The man has lived here many years. He is married.

Harry Ellis, employed as a machinist at the Fairbanks-Morse plant, and Ella Burt of Albany were married Monday in Elgin, Ill. The announcement of the marriage was made today. They will at once begin house-keeping in this city.

IS NORTHWESTERN TO CHANGE ROUTE

RUMORED THAT THROUGH TRAINS TO ST. PAUL AND MINNEAPOLIS WILL GO THROUGH JANESVILLE.

PLANS SHORTENED LINE

Nothing Definite Known As to Plans—Would Not Occur Until Next Year at Earliest.

It is rumored in railroad circles that with the completion of the new out-of-town line, the North-Western road north of Sparta that the big through train on this road will run through Milwaukee rather than Janesville in the near future. Whether or not this is the plan of the Chicago headquarters is not known, but it is expected that something of this nature is on foot.

It is not probable, however, that all of the best trains will be routed by way of Milwaukee as the service between Chicago and Sparta is largely made up of local traffic and Chicago is the shopping center of this vast territory. The failure of the road to double-track their lines along the Evansville Cut-off as originally planned gives credence to the report of the possible change of route.

Three through trains from Chicago to the north have passed through Janesville every day, while Milwaukee has but one, and they have been most insistent on another being run their way. However, there is no possibility of this change being made for some time yet, even if it is made at all, as the survey for the proposed cut-off has just begun and it will be several months before operations could actually begin.

Vice-President Gardner stated that next year the company will begin a new line from Lindworm, just north of Milwaukee, to Clyman, in Dodge county which is destined to be the first section of a new trunk line to St. Paul and Minneapolis, and that it will build a spur from West Allis on the Madison division to a point on the new line, along a route that will give it a bolt line around Milwaukee.

Regarding the route of the new line between Milwaukee and St. Paul, Mr. Gardner would give no information except to call attention to the fact that a subsidiary company, the Milwaukee, Sparta and North-Western, has been incorporated to build the line from Lindworm to Clyman, and that the line would undoubtedly be extended beyond Clyman when traffic conditions demand it. He stated, in reply to a question, that the new line would not be built to La Crosse, and that the company wished to avoid running trains through the tunnels on the present main line. These tunnels are in the general vicinity of Elroy.

From Clyman a line to Neenah would give the shortest route to St. Paul, in combination with the Omaha road, which, of course, will be utilized. This line route is under consideration as indicated by the fact that a party of North-Western surveyors are at work near Portage, which is an intermediate point between Clyman and Neenah.

The facts that North-Western railroad surveyors are at work at Sparta and at Wyville and that Sparta forms part of the subsidiary company's name, tends to show that another line is projected. Wyville is the point where the Neenah branch joins the main line to St. Paul, but on the line to La Crosse, and thence this line runs out through southern Minnesota and South Dakota to Rapid City and Gettysburg.

A line from Sparta to Wyville would connect this great trunk line with the new trunk line from Milwaukee to St. Paul and would provide for the diversion from the Madison-Darwin line to Milwaukee of the through business, freight and passenger, between Chicago and southern Minnesota and South Dakota. It would permit through freight trains to skirt Milwaukee by way of the West Allis spur between the Madison division and the new trunk line and permit through passengers to pass through Milwaukee in either direction by way of Lindworm.

The object of building the new line from Lindworm to Clyman is to give a line through Milwaukee and to avoid the tunnels and heavy grades near Elroy.

HAY FEVER IS DUE ALMOST ANY DAY NOW

Festive Gorms Expected to Reach Janesville on Their Annual Visit Shortly.

Hay fever is due and people who are victims of the dreaded disorder are preparing for the heavy-eyed experience during which the blowing of the nose and the manipulation of the handkerchief is the principal occupation—modified occasionally by a bit of polite profanity.

Janesville's quota to the ranks of the hay fever brigade numbers several hundred, many of whom like to the north winds as soon as the first symptoms are manifest. Others, less favorably circumstanced or grown desperate after years of experience are content to remain at home, blowing and weeping, until the frosts of October bring relief.

There is a hint of money in hay fever—for the railroads, and the dry goods and clothing merchants, who receive an unusually heavy demand for large handkerchiefs. At least one railroad in Wisconsin makes a small fortune every year out of the exodus out of the cities of victims who pack up bag and baggage and flee themselves to the land of pine needles where, the legend has it, relief is to be had from the sniffle and sneeze to "favor hay," or pollen rot or something. While thousands go to northern Michigan, many find relief in northern Wisconsin, which is becoming noted for its "hay fever cure." From the middle of July until frost comes the vicinity of a myriad of lakes and natural beauty spots in the northern part of the state, is thickly dotted with tents, occupied by hay fever sufferers. It is estimated that nearly 3,000 sojourned to the northern part of Wisconsin three months of last summer. According to railroad officials that many, and a thousand or so more, will make the pilgrimage this year.

The invasion of the pine forest territory by hay fever sufferers is producing some unique effects in that locality, says a railroad man. "A stranger, journeying through the land in August, when the hay fever epidemic has reached its zenith in population and stopped-up-headedness, would think himself in a world apart. The inhabitants are distinctively class-conscious and dialect is one of the marks of social prestige or ostracism. 'The traveler wonders if there might have been a provincial sorrow over which there is a universal lamentation and habit of a strange cult of complicated articulation fanatics. The nose, the eyes, and kerchiefs of those people make them homogenous. Their strange manner of speech make them interesting and their indifference to the coming and going of the rest of the world speaks volumes for the bond of sympathy that exists in their midst. 'Good mornin' or 'good evenin' is spoken there with a gentleness and mutual sympathy that passeth understanding."

Link and Pin

Chicago and North-Western While switching in the dark last night at the new yards, Engineer Herber had the misfortune to run switch-engine 167 into the side of train 581. The collision played havoc with the tank and two box-cars, but outside of that no damage was done.

KENOSHA PLAYERS CARRY OFF HONOR

Janesville Men Did Not Meet With Exceptionally Good Luck in First Day's Play.

With six Kenosha players and two from the Blue Mound country club left this morning in the championship medal contest at the state golf course, the play has narrowed down considerably. Yesterday, Chester Morse, the only Janesville player left in the preliminary round of the championship contest, drew R. P. Cavanaugh of Kenosha as his opponent, and was beaten seven up and six to play. It might, however, be said that Cavanaugh made a new record for the course, making his rounds in seventy, which is the professional score. It was a wonderful bit of playing and Morse was his opponent, R. D. Tallman, by defeating E. J. Evans of La Crosse, three up and two to play, played again in the next round for the President's cup this morning. J. P. Baker defeated G. P. Gregg of the Blue Mound club, three up and two to play, in the Director's cup contest, and played again today, while A. P. Burdman, in the same cup contest, met defeat by a score of four up and three to play at the hands of D. P. Wheeler.

As a result of this morning's play in the tournament it now seems certain that the Kenosha club members will fight out among themselves the question of "who is champion?"

C. C. Allen of Kenosha defeated M. H. Pettit of the same club in 19 holes. W. H. Yale of Kenosha defeated H. B. Clinton of Blue Mounds four up and three to play.

R. P. Cavanaugh of Kenosha defeated J. R. Anderson of the same club one up in twenty holes.

Gordon Yale defeated H. F. Hadfield of the Blue Mounds club, four up, in the consolation flight, Chester Morse of Janesville won from former state champion, F. W. Jacobs of Madison, by default.

In the President's cup, T. W. Spencer of the Milwaukee country club defeated Stanley D. Tallman one up in nine holes.

D. P. Wheeler of Madison, in the secretary's cup contest, defeated J. P. Baker one up.

This puts all the Janesville men out of the running, except Chester Morse, who this afternoon played the second round of the consolation series.

CHAS. M'KUEEN HAD TO PAY $20 FINE

For Beating Charles Lyke Over Head with Chair—Latter Assessed $4.10 for Abusive Language.

As the outcome of the assault and battery trial which was concluded in municipal court this morning, Charles McKuen paid a fine of $20 and costs totaling $4.36 for beating fourteen-year-old Charles Lyke over the head with a chair, and the Lyke boy paid a fine and costs amounting to $1.10 for using the abusive language which is alleged to have provoked the assault.

Attorney E. H. Ryan, counsel for McKuen, in his closing argument called attention to certain rights which he declared every man possessed within his own home. If a youth presumed to use a man's gross language, he thereby laid himself liable to a man's punishment. And, after all, there was not so much disparity in size between the man and boy—McKuen weighing only 122 pounds and the youth 110 pounds.

Attorney Oestreich, representing the prosecution, ridiculed the statements made by McKuen that he had been afraid of the boy for four years. The defendant had admitted that none of the threats which the boy was alleged to have made were ever carried out.

Judge Fille was inclined to believe that McKuen's testimony was correct with regard to the inception of the trouble, but the utterance of a vile name hardly justified the striking of a blow which might easily have killed the boy. Were it not for the provocation, the court would be disposed to impose an exceedingly heavy fine.

RAIN HAS HELPED THE TOBACCO CROP

Much Improvement Shown in Growth of the Weed in the Past Few Days.

According to the Wisconsin Tobacco Reporter the dangers that beset the tobacco crop due to the drought have disappeared.

More general rains that have fallen during the week have brought relief to some tobacco growing sections still suffering from the drought. The growing crop is therefore fast taking on a more encouraging aspect. The almost phenomenal growth that always follows such conditions can now be seen on every hand. The plants had such deep rooting on the stronger soils that the recovery is immediate as soon as the desired amount of moisture is afforded. All fields that had not reached the topping stage give promise of making a fair-sized leaf and maturing so quickly as to insure a thin leaf as well. The drought period, it is claimed, is the longest in the annals of the state observatory—12 days with less than a third of an inch of precipitation. A singular coincidence is that the last previous dry year, in 1901, the drought was broken on exactly the same date—August 5.

Again general rains have fallen during the week putting an end to the drought, which is now a thing of the past in all tobacco growing sections. The late fields are now making up for lost time and even the which is topped is spreading beyond expectations. The fate of the present crop must now lie with the weather conditions from this on. If favored with a late fall there is yet hope that good tobacco may be harvested and something like 75 per cent of a normal crop secured. The growers certainly feel much more encouraged over the prospect now.

Buyers continue to pick up a few contracts of new leaf in the hall districts at from 4 to 5 cents and possibly 200 acres have been sold.

The market for cured leaf is slowly picking up, at least there is a better feeling pervading the eastern centers. Both '07 and '08 continues to quietly move out of growers' hands that is all the time reducing the remnants in the country. The sale of about 700 cases of '07, a part of the Equity holdings, is reported closed to Spitzer, who also bought a 60-case lot of '07 of O. J. Huthens of Orfordville. A few hundred cases of low grades have also been moved of late. The shipments out of storage reach 717 cases for the week to all points from this station. 100 cases have been received from outside points.

TAKES EXCEPTION TO THE STATEMENT

Tobacco Growers Does Not Believe This Year's Crop is as Poor as Claimed by Buyers.

Feeling that an injustice has been done the growers of tobacco brought out the county by the statements of buyers that this year's crop will be exceptionally poor, Mr. J. W. Hensdale brought into the Gazette office this morning three samples of this year's growth, taken from three different fields in the town of Janesville, to demonstrate that this year's crop promises to be as good as the average year. The tobacco shown had leaves as large, if not larger, than the growth of the average year, and looked very healthy and strong. Reports from other portions of the county also show that while some fields are poor, the average yield will be more than fair this year. In speaking of the situation, Mr. Hensdale said:

"An experienced grower expresses the opinion that the article on the tobacco crop printed in your issue of the 11th inst., will work an injury to the industry in this section, if the statements made are allowed to go unchallenged and the predictions of failure are not fulfilled. Such reports, given wide publicity, and uncontradicted, will have a tendency to prejudice outside buyers against the crop, and without personal investigation they will assume that Wisconsin tobacco is valueless, and leave the field for some growers."

"With all proper respect for the gentlemen on whose reports your article was based, I cannot help thinking that other and impartial observers would have found better conditions somewhere in the wide field they covered. If they will get into my automobile for an hour or two I can show them fields of tobacco worthy of commendation. Or, if they prefer to investigate further on their own account, they need only come west of the city and stop at Bennett's, Peter Held's, and the Bleasdale farm to see as good tobacco and as leafy a growth as has been raised in this section for years. It cannot be possible that the good tobacco in the county is limited to three fields. While it is admitted that there are some poor crops, as stated, it by no means follows that the entire average will be a failure as they would have us believe. If we find a good blackberry in the first bite it is no reason why we should condemn the whole pie and throw the pie at the water."

"Owing to weather conditions and other causes, early tobacco sometimes matures and cures better than that of a later setting. In other seasons the reverse is true. On account of a severity of plants and unfavorable weather, much of our tobacco was of a late setting and is therefore getting the benefit of recent rains and present favorable growing weather. Many fields have improved at least fifty per cent within the past ten days."

"A man endowed with the wisdom of Solomon, to which the gentlemen, of course, will not pretend, cannot foretell, on the 11th of August, the size and quality of tobacco that will be hung in sheds from the 10th to the 15th of September."

"Would it not be wiser and fairer to all parties concerned to suspend judgment until the crop has had time to develop and we can tell with some degree of certainty whether or not it is a failure?"

"C. Q. D." HERO IS ROILED.

Jack Binna Resents Schwerin's Criticism of Wireless Service.

New York, Aug. 13.—Jack Binna, the "wireless hero" of the Republic, who "C. Q. D." calls for help saved the lives of about 250 passengers when that steamship collided with the Florida last fall, has his British dander up. He is in a great state of mind because of the interview given out by General Manager R. P. Schwerin of the Pacific Mail Steamship Company, San Francisco, who said Jack isn't a hero at all, and that wireless telegraphy is no good and he wouldn't have it on a ship of his.

"I wouldn't mind saying I'm not a hero," said Jack, "because I only did my duty and, anyway, that's merely a matter of opinion—although, when every one of 250 passengers and the captain and the crew and the boat and all the newspapers in America, and in England, too, say I'm one, I think I've good reason to believe I am—but when he calls me a cockney, I regard it as a personal insult. I do. It's evident from the way he talks, that the old persher does not know anything about wireless telegraphy nor electricity."

Dr. Von Bethmann-Hollweg, the newly appointed Chancellor of Germany.

Berlin.—The newly appointed chancellor of Germany, Dr. Von Bethmann-Hollweg, has grasped the situation in Germany with a strong hand. Already he has established himself as a leader and an able successor of Chancellor Von Bulow.

Dr. Von Bethmann-Hollweg has just passed his 62nd birthday. He is a very fond of outdoor exercise and may be seen nearly every day riding his favorite horse in the country and on the streets of Berlin.

He is Jewish origin a mild conservative but thorough believer in the traditional policy that the servant of the crown must be non-partisan. His speeches on the social question while he was minister of the interior were liberal in tone.

Dr. Von Bethmann-Hollweg has devoted himself to improving the condition of the artisan class, whereas almost all social legislation has been applied up to the present time to the working proletariat.

He possesses an excellent knowledge of the English language and is a student of American affairs.

Dr. Von Bethmann-Hollweg is a college friend of the emperor. They were formerly brothers-in-law. He was formerly a member of the Prussian corps at Bonn, and during the outbreak of William, he often has advised the Kaiser. He had, however, shown a disinclination to accept high office. He is a man of reserved and thoughtful habits and sometimes has been called the "philosopher statesman." Even at his own receptions he sometimes wears an air of preoccupation.

Before he was 30 years old he had been made district governor of Ober-Barnim, and later he became provincial president of Potsdam, where the suburban palace of Emperor William is located.

During his three years at Potsdam he saw much of the emperor and the two men took long walks and rides in the environs.

Following his sojourn at Potsdam, his promotion was rapid. He became president of the government of Brandenburg and later president of the province of Brandenburg from which post he took up the portfolio of Prussian minister of the interior.

He then followed Posadowsky as imperial minister and showed in particular his powers of plain and effective statement. He is without the grace of expression and wit of Prince Von Bismarck but he is a man of convincing thought and substance.

Good Knowledge for Divers.

As part of the education of the English naval divers, the beginners are taught how to save themselves, should they become exhausted, by allowing their suits to fill with air and shooting rapidly upward to the surface, where they are dragged into the boat by the attendants.

Another famous Newman Bros. piano sold on last Saturday's special sale. People cannot help buying when they find such value at so great a reduction in price. Some people know a good thing when they see it, others wait and wait until these special sales are closed, and then feel like kicking themselves because they did not buy when they could have saved ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS on a piano. Opportunity knocks at your door today. Will you accept a strictly high grade Newman Bros. piano fit to adorn the home of a King or Queen and save $100.00? Whatever you do or wherever you buy see that the name on the piano reads NEWMAN BROS. PIANO, then if you should pay $100.00 more than the price I am offering you today you

MOVING THE CROPS.

Official information relating to the crops is now full enough to justify some calculation as to the work involved in the movement of surplus yields from farm to market. The combined yield of cereal crops will amount to 5,000,000 bushels, including wheat, corn, oats, rye and barley. Of this quantity probably half, 2,500,000 bushels, will enter into transportation in which the railroads are the chief participants.

In addition to cereals there are from eleven to twelve million bales of cotton to be moved. The potato and hay crops are large features of the traffic originating at farms. The growing of vegetables for market has become so widely distributed as to contribute largely to traffic on the eastern as well as the western and southern lines. Besides these, the rice crop, the sugar yield, the orchard products, and autumn fruits and tobacco make up a total aggregating several millions of freight tonnage which railroads all over the country can rely upon as certain. Add to this sixty million head of live-stock, and we have nearly a million car-loads more of freight originating on farms and ranges.

Somewhat less certain is the size of the merchandise movement originating in the purchasing power of crops sold. This calls yearly for profitable shipments from central markets to consuming districts. The presence of large numbers of buyers in the seaboard markets and at the great merchandising centers of the interior indicates that the railroads will be well occupied with taking care of merchandise traffic to meet the personal consumption of agricultural and industrial populations. Unless all signs fail, the small towns and the rural districts throughout the country will also see a very extensive revival of improvements calling for building materials, hardware, tools, and machinery. The rate at which lumber shipments have improved already indicates that the trade is stocking its yards with supplies destined to meet the autumn building demands.

A third result of turning the crops into cash is seen in the amount of travel which it occasions. The rural people of the United States are in a better position to enjoy the profit and luxury of travel than ever before. Being supplied with funds and relieved of debt, to a greater extent than formerly, they have a freedom of expenditure which should manifest itself in a perceptible improvement in the passenger earnings of the country's railroads. Travel of this character always creates new desires and originates demands of more or less permanent character in the consumptive needs of the people concerned.

A WISE JUDGE.

The finding in the Shaw insanity matter meets with the general approval of the people of this country as a whole. Harry Shaw shot down a man in cold blood and is suffering the penalty for his mad act. Whether he had any justification for his act or not is the question of moral law not of legal lore. Shaw escaped the electric chair or state prison because the jury found him insane. With the millions left by his father his fond mother and sister have endeavored to have him freed from the asylum he was confined in. That their efforts have been unsuccessful demonstrates that even wealth can not command the law to stop in its course and that this nation is still safe from the influence of millions.

Why would it not be a good thing for judges in the large cities to make it a practice to send the hordes that come before them to the grain fields of the west to work out their lines instead of to fall to rest-up for another trip.

Every year we have lots of talk about moving the crops. It might be a good thing to put censors on them as they are growing so they could be moved without all this talk.

Greeks in Macedonia think that an uprising in the Balkans is about ripe as Turkey and Persia and even South America have had wars in plenty for some time past.

Mayor Russo is somewhat superstitious and does not think that Friday, the 13th, is just the day to name a new head for his police department.

Roosevelt has but no time as yet to pine for the tennis court of the White House even if he has been informed that it is a thing of the past.

The little Shah of Persia is crying his dear little eyes out because his parents are to be exiled from the country. Poor baby ruler.

Secretary Ballinger says that he is right and other people are wrong and the Chief Forester says he is right and others are wrong.

Harriman's railroad stocks went up a whooping yesterday merely on the rumor that he was coming home to boom them himself.

A Chicago Judge says a man may swear at his wife if he wants to, but it is no sign he should want to.

Railroads are rushing orders for steel rails, so as to give Tat's prosperity a genuine boom.

Ballinger hardly played the part of a little sunbeam at the big irrigation congress session.

Turkey morely wants the world to understand that it can thrash Greece if it wants to.

Many blondes are so perverse that they refuse to go insane just to please a scientist.

Tat's servants have gone on a strike. Too much company perhaps.

Heart to Heart Talks.

By EDWIN A. NYE.

DREAM AND—WHISTLE.

A correspondent tells us that the Wright brothers, builders of airplanes, whistle at their work benches.

He says that their favorite air is Schumann's "Trau—Merei," which means "Dreaming."

The Wrights are dreamers of airplanes, and in making their dreams come true they whistle in true satisfaction with their work.

Remember, when you were a boy, how you dreamed and whistled and whistled and dreamed?

Happy?

Perhaps you will never be quite so happy again unless you can dream as you did then and whistle as you dream.

Some of the dreams of youth have not come true, partly, maybe, by your neglect. Many of your castles in Spain have fallen and lie shattered at your feet, but—

Blessed are you if you have found other dreams over which you can whistle!

Morris says that what we call art is simply the expression of a man's—or woman's—joy in his work.

That is to say, the man who dreams a great book or a great picture or a great building is the man who finds pleasure in working over his dreams.

The great artist must whistle at his work.

And if one is to be happy in this world he also must find satisfaction in his work, whether it be a great or a lesser dream.

For instance—

You dream of that cozy home you will make for loved ones, and as your fancy sees its realization you are happy in working out the dream.

Or—

You dream of the day when you will be a doorwalker instead of a bundle wrapper, a buyer instead of a clerk, a lawyer instead of an office boy, a farmer instead of a hired hand, a foreman instead of a laborer.

As you begin to see the way clear to make your dreams come true the old boyish pucker comes to your lips, and before you know it you are whistling at your work.

And that is human happiness. Sad is it indeed for him whose dream of life has been shattered and who cannot find another dream!

The Wrights dream airplanes and whistle.

But you whistle at your task also, though your dream is not of airplanes. The chief thing is to get the dream—the whistle and happiness go with it.

Castro, Hamid and the Shah—gayest bunch you ever saw! Where Salt river waters foam, they have made their sylvan home, far from all the grief and groan of the palace and the throne; far from all the stress and strife, clinging to the simple life; far removed from busy war, they are close to nature's heart; hand in hand they form a ring, on the river's shore and sing: "We're the jolly cheer-up guys! Grief is foolish, joy is wise! Once we change to robe and crown, but we'll try to live it down! Scepters all are out of plumb, thrones are strictly on the bum, power's the shadow of a shade, fame is circus lemonade! Harem life is stale and flat, women all become so fat. Nothing human is worth while—nothing but the 'cheer-up' smile, nothing but the jolly song that we carol all day long. We're the happy 'cheer-up' kids, jolly as the katewipes; come and join us, queens and kings! Fire your crowns and kindred things; come and join us, merry ring, come and dance with us and sing; gladness is our only law—Castro, Hamid and the Shah!"

A Woman's Reason.
A woman can have so many different reasons for loving a man who wants to love that it doesn't make any difference whether they are real or not.—New York Press.

AGED WOMAN FELL FROM A VIADUCT

MRS. BEINS OF WHITEWATER DROPPED THIRTY FEET FROM TRACKS.

VERY SEVERELY INJURED

Just Missed Hitting Tall's Ice Wagon Hip Broken, Arm Broken in Two Places and Internally Injured—Hurried to Hospital.

Henry Tall's ice wagon had just passed under the North Main street viaduct about 1 o'clock this afternoon when he heard a scream and looking back was horrified to see an aged woman fall headlong and strike the road on the southern side of the archway. As he turned back to render what assistance lay within his power, people living in that vicinity came running from several directions and the injured woman's daughter clambered down from the railroad embankment, almost beside herself with fear and horror.

It appeared that her mother, Mrs. Beins, and herself were returning from a visit at the home of the former's sister on North Jackson street and had taken a short cut across the railroad bridge. They were nearing the eastern wall of the thirty-foot viaduct when sounds of an approaching train were heard in the distance. Though no locomotive was in sight, Mrs. Beins became terror-stricken and before the daughter could realize what was going to happen, moved away from the rails to the edge of the structure and, overcome with dizziness, tottered and fell over the large six-inch binding timber. The young woman made a futile effort to save her, when it was too late, and then averted her eyes that she might not see the terrible denouement.

Russell's ambulance had gone to Footville to get a patient for the hospital and the police patrol wagon was the next best vehicle available. In charge of Officers John Brown and Patrick Manning and with Dr. G. C. Waukele aboard, it quickly responded to the call. One of the women at the home of John J. Jankowski, 479 North Main street, brought out her best feather pillows and thanks to the generous and thoughtful act, the unfortunate woman was made as comfortable as possible while the vehicle was hurried to Mercy hospital.

Dr. Waukele, assisted by Dr. R. W. Edden, made the examination. He found that the right hip was fractured at the joint and that both bones of the right arm and three ribs were broken. Severe hemorrhages also betrayed internal injuries of a very serious character and her chances for surviving the awful experience are very slight. Mrs. Beins is about 60 years of age.

Mrs. Beins died this afternoon about half past three o'clock.

MORE PROOFS

Of the Wonderful Results Produced by Vurpillat's New Discovery.
Mrs. A. Routson Calls Upon Vurpillat to Extend Her Thanks—Office at 509 W. Milwaukee St. Continues to be Crowded.

Friday is marked by some as a day of misfortune, but Vurpillat has proven it to be as good a day as any other. The office was visited by as many people today as on any former day—only more came. All accepted cases left the office with full assurance that life had a brighter side than that which they had viewed for years past. The skeptics even acknowledge that the eccentric demonstrator's claims for his remedies are justified and sustained by the cures that have been produced. The stage of belief in the remedial agencies has been attained. All who have investigated the victories won over disease by Vurpillat and his New Discovery, agree that all claims for success have been facts. The half has not been told. Cures have been effected in the quiet of many of the homes in Janesville. They do not read the newspapers, but those who have been made happy by the kind action of the New Discovery tell the story to some friends. They commend the medication and their friends do likewise. A semi-invalid citizen is being formed anew where, in many cases, cure had been thought impossible.

Yesterday they called at the office a very happy lady, Mrs. A. Routson of 552 1/2 Ellis Ave., Chicago, who made the following statement: "I have been a sufferer with rheumatism for a number of years and it had finally become so severe that I was obliged to use a cane. I have tried many remedies, but nothing helped me in any way and I despaired of finding relief. I was in a general run-down condition and had stomach trouble to such an extent that I was compelled to have my stomach washed out twice a month and the only food my stomach would retain was liquid diet. A little over a week ago a friend of mine sent me a package of the New Discovery and asked me to try it. From the very first I began to improve and in five days my rheumatism was so much better that I no longer needed my cane, and I am now without the sign of those severe pains. For the first time in months I can sit down and enjoy a good meal. My general health is also improved, and I have not felt so well in years. I would not have believed that there was a medicine on earth that would do what this one does for me. I am so grateful that I came from Chicago to thank Vurpillat in person and to purchase more of his medicine."

The office at 509 W. Milwaukee St. is open from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m. where consultation and examination are free to all.

Size of Atlantic Cable.
The diameter of the Atlantic cable varies according to the depth of the water, the character of the bottom on which it lies and the probabilities of interference from anchors. There is little or no movement at the bottom, and it is important that the cable should not have great weight. A heavy cable in deep water would be difficult to bring up for repairs if such were needed. In the shallower water a heavier type of cable is used. The types are known as "shore end," "immediate" and "deep sea." The diameters of the commercial cables are: Shore end, 2 1/2 inches; intermediate, 1 1/2 inches; deep sea, 1 inch.

FORTY YEARS AGO

Jamesville Daily Gazette, August 13, 1869. — Accidental Death. — Circumstances all seem to point conclusively to the fact that the tragic death of Mr. T. H. Bennett was accidental. He was subject to a kind of fit, or spells of obliviousness, and it is conjectured that during one of these he fell from the platform of the car. It was plainly to be seen where the body hit the embankment and rolled into the water. His remains were interred this afternoon.

HARRY THAW WILL MAKE APPEAL

MOTHER'S WEALTH WILL BACK SLAYER IN NEW FIGHT FOR LIBERTY.

GOES BACK TO MATTEAWAN

Justice Mills Declares Stanford White's Murderer is Still Insane—Declares Wife's Story False—Deleaves Prisoner Whipped Girls.

White Plains, N. Y., Aug. 13.—Ducked by his mother's love and great wealth, Harry K. Thaw, who will be taken to the Matteawan insane asylum under the decision rendered yesterday by Justice Mills, will soon begin another fight for his liberty, this time in the court of appeals. Thaw is still insane and a dangerous man is the court's decision in brief.

No Comfort for Thaw

There is no crumb of comfort for Thaw in the 7,000-word opinion handed down by Justice Mills. All the contentions of his old adversary, District Attorney Jerome, are supported, and it is declared that Thaw is still insane, still suffering from persistent delusions, and still as much a parasite as on the day he shot Stanford White. The order for Thaw's commitment was presented to Justice Mills by Deputy Attorney General Ezra P. Prentice.

Thaw, waiting in the White Plains jail, at the rear of the courthouse, where the decision was filed, received the news with an outward calmness which appeared, however, more forced than real. The members of his family and his attorney seemed stunned by the thoroughness of their defeat. Thaw declined to give out any extended statement, confining himself with the assertion that he was not disheartened and would at once continue his fight for liberty. "My next effort," he said, "will be centered upon the court of appeals, through which I expect to secure a hearing before a jury in my effort to have my commitment to Matteawan set aside."

Conclusions of the Court

Justice Mills in his opinion reaches these three formal conclusions:

That Thaw was insane when he killed White.

That he has not yet recovered.

That public peace and safety would be endangered by setting him at large.

He upholds District Attorney Jerome's contention that Thaw still cherishes delusions regarding the practices of Stanford White and his associates.

Justice Mills characterizes Evelyn Thaw's tale of the Madison Square tower room, and similar stories about White told at the sanity hearing, as "wild and grossly improbable, evidently to any normal mind grossly exaggerated." He asserts his belief in the testimony of Susan Merrill regarding Thaw's alleged whipping of girls, and points out the contrast between Thaw's chivalrous attitude as a protector of young American womanhood, and his private life.

Sympathy for Mother

Justice Mills expressed deep sympathy for Mrs. Mary Copley Thaw, the prisoner's mother, and her exposition of the "horror of Matteawan" on the stand evidently prompted his recommendation that Thaw be allowed greater privileges at that institution. At the same time he gently chided Mrs. Thaw for her censure of District Attorney Jerome, of whom he said: "I find no evidence of any heartlessness or undue zeal on his part."

Not the least significant sentence in Justice Mills' decision, in the opinion of lawyers here, is one which declares that Thaw's "delusions had become fixed and established before the time of his marriage." It is pointed out that this sentence may, if desired, prove grounds for proceedings by Mrs. Evelyn Thaw for the annulment of her marriage.

Statement by Mrs. Thaw

Mrs. Thaw, after talking over the situation with her son, wrote out the following statement:

"Let no one imagine for a moment on reading this opinion of Judge Mills that it means a victory for the district attorney of the county of New York.

"One by one the delusions with which he and his associates started out were proven, each by the mouths of several witnesses to be stubborn facts, that would not down at his bidding. Every prop was taken from under that arrogant, vindictive persecutor of a sane acquitted man. So baffled was he that when he rose to make his closing speech, (for argument it was not), he had more the appearance of a school boy compelled to say his piece than the sometimes courageous, mature sophist who dominates the courts of his own judicial district, except when wealthy industrialists are under trial.

"It is impossible to fathom the workings of the human mind, and so the reason for this totally unexpected and cruel decision of the trial judge must remain a mystery."

RACING AND GAMES AT EDGERTON TODAY

Events Postponed from the T. A. & B. Picnic on Wednesday Were Held Today.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Edgerton, Aug. 13.—The afternoon program of events which were to have been held last Wednesday, but which was postponed on account of rain, was held this afternoon. The program consisted chiefly of horse races, running races and games, with a game of basketball between the Chicago Union Giants of Chicago and the Edgerton Giants. This contest was very interesting, as many desired to see the showing the Edgerton team would make against the Chicago team, which defeated a strong club from Janesville Wednesday. The crowd at the grounds was very large, though perhaps not quite as large as on Wednesday, but the races proved a drawing card for many.

The T. A. & B. society have purchased a building of Willson Bros. and will remodel it for meeting purposes and social affairs.

The remains of W. H. Ryan, who was cut to pieces under a freight train Wednesday night, were shipped to Covington, Kentucky, last night. The man has a brother and sister in Covington, to whom the body was sent. He came here from the West looking for work. He was a cigar stripper and about thirty-five years of age.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Doer and family of Evanston, Ill., are guests at the home of Herman Kneuer.

Miss Ann Quigley of Milwaukee is home for a visit.

Miss Emma Schelle is visiting Janesville friends.

William Wain, proprietor of a garage in Chicago, is visiting friends here.

A. S. Melnits of Lake Forest is visiting his brother, Rev. Melnits, pastor of the Methodist church.

Mrs. May Porter has secured a position with Marshall Field & Co. in Chicago.

Dr. and Mrs. F. C. Myers, and Mr. and Mrs. L. I. Tyler returned from a month's outing at Arbor Vitae today.

Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Shumway of Stoughton are attending the races here today.

INVESTIGATION BY GOVERNMENT

Uncle Sam May Prosecute Societies That Prey on Immigrants.

Washington, Aug. 13.—A vigorous probe instituted to suppress the practice of alleged charitable organizations in preying upon ignorant immigrants at Ellis Island, may result in a series of prosecutions by the department of commerce and labor.

The scope of the department's action to wipe out this form of "grafting" will be determined when Commissioner General Keefe of the immigration bureau, reviews the report of Commissioner Williams at Ellis Island. The latter's investigation has covered a wide range and he has succeeded in excluding from the island many organizations which have operated for gain among the immigrants.

Balloonists Cross Frontier Line

The occupants were halted by a Russian guard, but upon proving who they were they were released.

MILK THIEVES BALKED

Device Locks Bottle to Door Jamb and Keeps It Safe.

Only the police know the thousands upon thousands of milk bottles that are stolen in a big city in a year. Most of the milk thieves are poor folk who are too hungry to resist the temptation of food and drink so easily reached and the New Jersey man who invented the patent bottle holder did them a good turn when he removed the temptation from their path, as well as his secret bootleggers and milkmen a pretty penny. This holder of cups, two deep members which fit around the bottom and neck of the bottle. A tongue-like affair acts as a lock and prevents one end of the upper clamp, the lower one being already fast to the wall or door jamb, as the case may be. The milkman sets the bottle in the lower ring, adjusts the upper ring around its neck and snaps the lock, holding early morning provisions to get the bottle away. In the same way the housewife can prevent other sorts of thieves, who steal the bottles for their trifling value, by locking the empty ones up.

Attack on Washington Power Company Which Cabinet Officer is Accused of Favoring Brings Hot Retort in Irrigation Congress.

Spokane, Wash., Aug. 13.—The Ballinger-Pinchot feud was stirred up again in the National Irrigation congress when John Farnon, the Chicago banker, and John Wilcox, former United States senator from Washington, rushed to the defense of President Taft's secretary of the interior on the convention floor.

Former Gov. George C. Pardee of California started the controversy by questioning a statement by a speaker. He again accused Secretary Ballinger of permitting the opening for entry of valuable water power sites.

This brought Mr. Farnon to his feet asking Dr. Pardee if he meant to insinuate that the secretary was dishonest. With Dr. Pardee's reply that he meant no such accusation, the incident was dropped.

W. W. Ferrell of Ferrell, Idaho, attacked the Washington Power Company, which supplies power to Spokane, and brought a reply from former Senator Wilcox.

"There may be those who do wrong in this land," said Mr. Wilcox. "There may be water power companies that disobey the law, but I want to say here that I stand for Richard A. Ballinger and I shall hear no man say he is dishonest. If it is necessary, I am here to defend Ballinger's superior—President Taft. What they have done they have done under the law."

New Doctrine for Farmers.

That man owns his farm, but only is an agent under obligations to conserve his soil was the doctrine promulgated by L. H. Bailey, director of the New York College of Agriculture, who spoke on the farm community. He said it is not true that a young man must go west to take up a new farm. He declared that if he takes up the old farm he is under obligation to make a new farm of it. He asserted that the west is in danger of becoming less fertile and the east is less liable to last long, and quoted from the reports of the country life commission to sustain his statement. He said that after all lands have been improved by private enterprise there will still remain thousands of acres awaiting reclamation at the hands of the people at large.

Irrigation Cause National.

"There should be a national irrigation movement," said he, "but it is not necessary to develop all of our resources now. It is well that we have plenty of resources to take up when in the future a press of population comes."

"New York state is 40 per cent. forests and swamps, and many eastern states are similarly situated. I am not sorry for this. There is no hurry. When every irrigable acre in the west has been reclaimed there will be time to reclaim the swamps and forests of the east."

Dr. A. E. True, director of experiment stations, was a speaker.

Prof. Samuel Porter, of the department of agriculture, delivered an address on the proper use of water.

THE GREAT ROOT JUICE WILL BE HERE IN THE MORNING

THE WONDERFUL HEALTH-CREATING DISCOVERY WILL BE AT THE RELIABLE DRUG CO.'S DRUG STORE.

So much has been published and said about the scientist and his great discovery and so many stories have been told of the wonders accomplished in a very few days with this great health-giving root juice that many are getting anxious and would like to see the wonderful remedy that has made many remarkable cures during the past few months. The newspapers of a number of cities have told of hundreds of cures the root juice has made, and some of the stories about are almost too good to be true. It is said that many people who had given up hope of ever seeing another well day—even some whom the best doctors of the country had pronounced incurable—after taking the Juice a short while were restored to perfect health. The remedy seems to remove all soreness from the stomach, bowels and bladder, and soon so heats the kidneys and liver that the blood making and blood filtering organs work in healthy union. Then all forms of indigestion, belching, heartburn, sick headache and constipation are cured as the cause has been removed. It seems that it cures by fermenting in the stomach and bowels and by giving the kidneys the health and the strength to alter all accumulated acid from the blood. The demonstrations begin in the morning at the Reliable Drug Co.'s drug store.

Root Juice is $1 a bottle. Three bottles for $2.50.

CONTEST DOUGHNUT ATTRACTS VERY MUCH ATTENTION

THREE DAYS OF SPECIAL OFFER YET REMAIN—RETURNS ARE INCREASING.

CONTESTANTS who are wise are realizing that NOW is the time to bring in those new Daily subscriptions as our Ten Days' Special Offer extends to NEW Daily subscriptions only. Each new Daily for a year will mean 12000 votes if you succeed in bringing in five or more. Now is the time for you to build up the time for use on the last day. Study our scale of votes and see where you can use your time to the best advantage. If you have had these new subscriptions started now is the time to bring in the money for them and receive your regular ballot and the credit on the Special Offer. Remember, you receive no credit in ballots until the ballot is made out for you and that is done when the money in payment is brought to us and not when the paper was started. Be thoughtful and wise and do not allow your opportunity to slip by.

Hundreds of people of Janesville and vicinity have been attracted by the beautiful and clever manner in which The Gazette has its prize plans on display in the show window of Putnam's China and Furniture store on South Main street. The window was trimmed by an expert in his line sent especially from Chicago for this work and the idea of "Optimism" is clearly brought out. "The girl who is bright and Optimistic who will carry off these prizes." The world helps those who help themselves and are clearly about it at the same time. "Nothing succeeds like success." Have faith that you ARE to be a winner and you will build that faith into those from whom you ask support. When on Main street do not fail to see the display. The third prize is in the salesroom of Mr. North and the diamonds and watches in the show window of Olin & Olson on W. Milwaukee St.

With only three days left for the candidates to take advantage of the great opportunity afforded them by the special offer now in vogue every contestant is hurrying around with much ado gathering in subscribers and the extra efforts are made themselves keenly by the office force at The Gazette.

Wednesday and yesterday were without doubt the greatest days of the contest up to this time. The office force was busy all day waiting on the contestants and their friends. The doors of the office were kept swinging continually by the steady stream of votes until a very late hour. A great many thousand votes were received and over 200 letters were received by the contest department.

This gives the people some idea of the great interest and enthusiasm in this great contest has developed. Almost every girl in the three districts now is going to vote and for some there were as high as a dozen packages received. Many have taken advantage of this great special offer but those who have not should not be discouraged but put forth their best efforts as this offer does not end until Tuesday evening, and there are many now subscribers to be gained only for the asking. Now is the time, young ladies, to put forth your best efforts.

"Future" Orders.
Don't give up getting a party as a subscriber, simply because he is already taking some other paper for which he has paid in advance. Take his subscription to The Gazette to begin at the expiration of the other paper, and when that time arrives, he will begin to receive The Gazette.

Open Evenings.
For the benefit of those who cannot call during business hours this office and contest department will be open every evening until 8 o'clock.

A NARROW ESCAPE FOR MONROE FAMILY

Lightning Passed Through 'Haren' Home but Family Escaped with Slight Shock.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Monroe, Wis., Aug. 13.—The home of Dan Haren in this city was struck by lightning while members of the family were seated for supper in the dining room. The bolt came through the roof down through the kitchen and passed out on the telephone wires. The house was filled with flames and some of the children were frightened and screamed. The bolt shocked and struck in different places in the same neighborhood.

Peter Burke, who conducts a saloon on South Jackson street, dropped a $100 watch in the opening of the city sewer in the place of business and the timepiece instantly disappeared. Search is being made for it at the sewer disposal plant.

manded earnestly.

"With all my soul, I swear to you," he replied, staggered by the abrupt change in her manner.

"Then don't make it any harder for me," she said. "You know that I could not do what you ask. Please, please be fair with me. I—I can't even—just about it. It is too much to ask of me," she went on, with a strange firmness in her voice. "It would require centuries to make me forget that I am a princess, just as centuries were taken up in creating me what I am. I am no better than you, dear, but—but you understand?" She said it so pleadingly, so hopelessly, that he understood what it was that she could not say to him. "We seldom, if ever, marry the men whom God has made for us to love."

He lifted her hands to his breast and held them there. "If you will just go on loving me I'll some day make you forget you're a princess." She smiled and shook her head. Her hair gleamed red and bronze in the kindly light of soft perfume came up to his nostrils.

The next day three of the native servants became violently ill, seized by the most appalling convulsions. At first a thrill of horror ran through the chateau. The plague—the plague in reality!

"By no means," she responded. "I am not oppressed by the same fever that actuated Miss Pelham. You see, Mr. Chase, I am quite confident that we are not to die in two weeks."

"I could almost wish that we could die in that time," he said.

"How very diabolical!"

"It may seem odd to you, but I'd rather see you dead than married to Prince Karl." She was silent. He went on, "Would you consent to be my wife if you felt in your heart that you should never leave this island?"

"I think I shall go in, Mr. Chase," she said, with a warning shake of her head.

"Don't, please! I'm not asking you to marry me if we should leave the island. You must give me credit for that," he argued vehemently.

"Ah, I see," she said, apparently very much relieved. "You want me only with the understanding that death should be quite close at hand to relieve you. And if I were to become your wife, here and now, and we should be taken from this dreadful place—what then?"

"You probably would have to go through a long and miserable career as plain Goodwife Chase," he explained.

"If it will make you any happier," she said, with a smile in which there lurked a touch of mischievous triumph, "I can say that I might consent to marry you if I were not so positive that I will leave the island soon. You seem to forget that my uncle's yacht is to call here, even though your creditors will not."

"I'll risk even that," he maintained stoutly.

She stopped suddenly, her hand upon his arm.

"Do you really love me?" she demanded earnestly.

"You will find out," he said, with a warning shake of his head.

"You will find out," he said, with a warning shake of his head.

"You will find out," he said, with a warning shake of his head.

"You will find out," he said, with a warning shake of his head.

"You will find out," he said, with a warning shake of his head.

"You will find out," he said, with a warning shake of his head.

"You will find out," he said, with a warning shake of his head.

"You will find out," he said, with a warning shake of his head.

"You will find out," he said, with a warning shake of his head.

"of their infernal nothing. I am a man—mortally afraid!"

"Take care of him, Hollingsworth," she whispered shuddering.

"Goodly, General, my princess," said Chase softly and then was off with Britt and Solim. As he passed Dracula he seized her hand and paused long enough to say:

"It's all right, little woman, take my word for it. If I were you, I'd cry: 'You'll see things differently through your tears.'"

The four men, with their lights, vanished from sight a few moments later. Chase grasped Dracula's arm and held him back, gravely suggesting that Solim should lead the way.

"They were to learn the truth almost before they had fairly begun their investigations."

"The heirs already were in the hands of their enemies, the Islanders!"

The eager secretaries, shouting as they went, had come to what was known as the "cathedral." This was a wide, lofty chamber, hung with dripping stalactites, far below the level at which they began the descent.

"The floor was almost as flat and even as that of a modern dwelling. Here the cavern branched off in three or four directions, like the tabularies of a monster devilfish, the narrow passages leading no one knew whither in that tomblike mountain."

Solim uttered the first shout of surprise and consternation. An instant later they were standing at the edge of a vast hole in the floor—newly made and pregnant with disaster.

A current of air swept up into their faces. The soft, loamy earth about the rim of the floor was covered with the prints of naked feet; the bottom of the hole was packed down in places by a multitude of tracks. Chase's bewildered eyes were the first to discover the presence of loose, scattered masonry in the pile below, and the truth dawned upon him sharply. He gave a loud exclamation and then dropped lightly into the shallow hole.

"I've got it!" he shouted, stooping to peer intently ahead. "You know, Mr. Chase, the secret passage runs along here. One of the Islanders blew this hole through the roof of the passage. Here are the walls of the passage. By heaven, the way is open to the sea!"

"My God, Chase!" cried Dracula, staggering toward the opening. "These footprints are—They've murdered her! They've come in here and surprised!"

"Go easy, old man! We need to be cool now. It's all as plain as day to me. Tanula and his men were exploring the passage after the discovery of the treasure chests. They came upon this new-made hole and then crawled into the cavern. They surprised Browne and—Yes, here are the prints of a woman's shoe—and a man's too. They are gone. God help 'em!"

Signs of a fierce struggle were found near the entrance to the cathedral. Bobby Browne had made a gallant fight. Blood stains marked the smooth floor and walls, and there was evidence that a body had been dragged across the chamber.

Britt put his hand over his eyes and shuddered. "They've settled this contest, Chase, forever!" he groaned.

Fear of Death.

Doctors and parsons are doing a lot of harm by increasing the fear of death and making the English less manly. No one should consider death or think of it as worse than going from one room into another. The greatest of political writers has said: "Despite your life, and you are master of the lives of others." Philosophy would say: "Conquer the fear of death, and you are put into possession of your life." I was a very timid and sensitive boy. I was frightened of everything; I could not endure to be left alone. But when I came to be 18 I looked round the world (as far as a youth of 18 can look) and determined not to be afraid again. Since then I have had no fear of death. Every night when I go to bed I know I may not rise from it. That is nothing to me.—George Meredith.

Peace and Stability.

Ho—"The captain says we're hard and fast on a rock." She (very sick)—"Thank God!"—Life.

There's just one thing to do, said Chase. "We've got to explore that cavern to the end. They may have lost their bearings and strayed off into one of the lateral passages."

"I—I can't bear the thought of her wandering about in that horrible place," Dracula cried as he started resolutely toward the ladder.

"She'll come out of it all right," said Chase, a sudden conviction in his eyes.

Dracula Browne was standing near by, cold and silent with dread, a set expression in her eyes. Her lips moved slowly, and Dracula heard the bitter words: "You will find them, Lord Dracula. You will find them!"

He stopped and passed his hand over his eyes. Then, without a word, he snatched a rifle from the hands of one of the patrol and led the way up the ladder. Chase turned to the white-faced princess and said between his teeth:

"If Skaggs and Wyckholme had been in the employ of the devil himself they could not have foreseen the result."

GRANT FORBES AIR WARFARE.

Thinks Future Battles Will Be Fought from Clouds.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Aug. 13.—In addressing the convention of the Army of the Philippines Maj. Gen. Frederick D. Grant, commander of the department of the lakes, said:

"I candidly believe that airships will be the deciding factor in future warfare. The war department is watching with intense interest the development of the aeroplane. To my mind these aircraft will play the important part in war times to come."

Interesting discussion was carried on by the delegates concerning the adoption of insignia or uniforms for the organization. A motion to adopt slouch hats and frock coats was laid on the table, as one delegate in objecting to the motion, characterized such dress as "dudes' clothes, such as Col. Roosevelt abhorred."

Officers of the organization were chosen by acclamation as follows: Commander, Col. C. L. Jowett, New Albany, Ind.; junior vice-commanders, Maj. W. H. Anderson, Manila, P. I.; Capt. F. W. Lathimer, Galesburg, Ill.; Maj. Charles A. Howard, South Dakota; P. E. Krombe, St. Paul, Minn.; Nicholas W. Muller, New York; paymaster, W. R. Brown, Chicago; judge advocate general, Capt. W. H. Keating, Iowa; chaplain, Samuel J. Smith, Nineteenth United States Infantry.

ILLINOIS BANK IS ROBBED OF $2,500 BY LONE BANDIT

Cashier and Brother at Pistol Point Forced to Turn Over Cash at Franklin.

Jacksonville, Ill., Aug. 13.—The Farmers' and Merchants' bank at Franklin was robbed of $2,500 by a lone bandit who held up the cashier and his brother.

One suspect has been arrested, but his identity has not been proven.

Between one and two o'clock in the afternoon a man clad like a farmer appeared at the cashier's desk and asked to exchange some bills of small denominations for larger ones. The cashier went to the vault to get the bills.

When he emerged the robber was inside the railing and covered him with a revolver, demanding the bank's cash.

The cashier handed over the box in his hand, containing $1,500 in currency, and the robber, after hurriedly rifling the money drawer of $1,000 more, escaped through an alley.

The alarm was given by the cashier's brother, who was in the bank at the time of the robber's entrance, but was powerless to interfere, as he was held under threat of death by the bandit until the moment the cashier came from the vault.

A posse was organized by the sheriff and is searching the surrounding country for the criminal. The bank is insured against robbery.

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON

LOOKED at her in surprise when I saw one of my friends pay a boy to carry her suitcase a five minutes' walk.

She saw my look. "If I had always done that," she said, "I might not have spent a month in the hospital last year. You think it's extravagant but it really is economy."

The economy that makes a woman spend herself to save money is quite frequently very extravagant economy.

Women as a rule are more careful of dribble money than men. The spending of five and ten cents here and there and everywhere seems terrible to them.

In one of George Ade's fables the man says, "I don't care where the money goes. I buy half-dollar cigars and the most expensive brands of cigarettes and set up the drinks quite frequently to be sure, and put up a little money on the pool once in a while, but I never buy steam yachts or racehorses or any of the really big things." While the woman's plaint is, "I don't see where the money goes. I buy me a sable coat or a diamond ring once in a while, but I never spend money for little things."

I fancy that women's attitude towards the dribble money may come from the fact that so many of them have always been scrimped in spending money for little things while the husbands settle the large bills and the wives do not have a chance to realize how much running a house, purchasing a wardrobe and other large items, cost.

The saving of the penny, the nickel and the dime in certain directions is undoubtedly commendable.

Although most of us were somewhat distracted by the question as to whether a "groat" were some distant relation to the goat, or merely something made of pins, we all managed to absorb in our copybook days the general import of the fact that—

"A pin a day's a groat a year,
A penny saved is two pence clear."

And some ten or twelve similar, though less pictorial, proverbs.

But the spending of the same pennies, nickels and dimes in some directions is quite as commendable as the saving of them in others.

Walking wearisome distances to save carfare, carrying heavy suitcases to save expressage or boy money, eating poor or insufficient food to save lunch money, are some of the many economies that no woman who wants her full strength to make her way in the world or to enjoy life with, can possibly afford.

Ruth Cameron

Destructive Power of Water.
Water, looked upon as the tamest of liquids, is as great an explosive as dynamite under certain conditions. In one day water breaks up more earth and rock than all the gunpowder, gun-cotton and dynamite in the world do in a year.
